Homeland Security

RSVP of North Idaho is the recipient of grant funds to help implement stronger efforts by local organizations in the service of Homeland Security. Therefore, we are looking for volunteers who might be interested in assisting law enforcement and emergency services agencies with the many issues of security. Initial efforts are with the sheriffs' departments in the five North Idaho counties, as well as the Post Falls Police Dept, Idaho State Patrol and the Kootenai County Office of Emergency Management. Volunteers work at other sites that have been and still are doing work that pertains to homeland security; such as Inland Northwest Blood Bank, etc. Senior volunteers conduct and assist with neighborhood/rural patrols, clerical duties, training of volunteers, and public education. If you or someone you know has the skills and desire to volunteer in the many developing facets of this Homeland Security effort, RSVP would love to hear from you!
